MEMORANDUM

To: David Gilmore
Administrative Receiver
Chairman, Board of Commissioners

Re: Demolition of Townhouses and Duplex Building Foundations at Florida

The Florida Housing Community was devastated by Hurricane Katrina and has remained vacant since that time. In 2002 HANO, with HUD approval, demolished a portion of the Florida Development. HANO commissioned a study, which was completed in November 2009, of the remaining 77 Katrina damaged townhouses and 50 duplex building foundations (25 foundations) at the Florida site. While the report concluded that it would be possible to renovate and rebuild the existing structures, doing so would require significant remediation and financial investment to bring the buildings into compliance with current building codes. To evidence obsolescence for demolition of a project, HUD considers rehabilitation not to be cost-effective if costs exceed 57.14% of the Total Development Cost (TDC), as established by HUD for non-elevator structures. HANO engaged an architect (Perez APC) to assess rehabilitation costs and received cost estimates stating rehabilitation costs would be 68.73% of the HUD TDC.

After consultation with former residents and the Mayor of the City of New Orleans, HANO desires to demolish the remaining 77 townhouse buildings and to remove the existing foundations for the 50 duplex units. The proposed demolition activity is included in HANO's 2012 PHA Plan that has been approved by HUD. A 24 CFR Part 58 environmental review process for the demolition and redevelopment of Florida was submitted to the City and approved in August 2012.

The Board is hereby requested to authorize the Administrative Receiver to submit the required demolition applications to HUD, and to authorize the Administrative Receiver to execute any and all documents necessary in connection with the demolition of the remaining structures at the Florida site.
